THE PERFECT SOLUTION

"We realized that Canadians needed a reliable, quality made, simple to use emergency dialer that would not have a high price nor require any on-going fees or contracts. The Smart Dialer was the perfect solution." - Christine Beard

CareAlert Canada's co-founder was looking to help her aging mother to retain her independence and remain in her own home. She realized she needed an easy and reliable method of communicating in the event of an emergency or other need. Her research revealed that most available emergency systems on the market had expensive on-going monthly monitoring fees and other costs attached to them. She also felt that during an emergency her mother would be hesitant to speak initially to a complete stranger who would then try to contact relatives or friends to go and check on her.

Not satisfied with these existing products she continued her search and discovered the Smart Dialer, a proven solution used in Australia since 2003. She launched the Smart Dialer in Canada and users have raved about it ever since.
